

Dennis Johansson

4th-year M.Sc. student in Computer Science and Software Engineering, specializing in AI and Machine Learning

Profile

Driven and analytical engineering student passionate about AI, smart automation and finance. I enjoy turning complex challenges into efficient solutions and improving systems through optimization. I like to collaborate in teams, contribute with ideas and learn from others, while also being comfortable taking ownership of tasks on my own. I have no problem taking on a leadership role when needed, especially in situations that require structure and clear direction. I'm particularly interested in how data, algorithms and financial thinking can be combined to create smarter decision-making and valuable results.

Education

Computer Science and Software Engineering Aug 2022 – Present
Linköping University, Linköping

I am in a five-year Master of Science in Engineering program, where I specialize in AI and machine learning. The main focus of the education is programming, mathematics, and problem-solving skills.

Technology and Industrial Engineering Aug 2018 – Jun 2021
Mälardalens Technical High School, Södertälje

Completed both the technical and industrial engineering program with a focus on design and product development. The education provides both university preparation and career-focused qualifications.
